AT ALL GOOD DEALERS 50¢ UP

Beautiful Bust and Shoulders are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere. The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled.

put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the daintiest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles: Cross Back, Hook Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Boned with "Valium," the rustless boning—permitting washing without removal. Have your dealer show you Bien Jolie Brassieres, if not stocked, we will gladly send him, prepaid, samples to show you.

CAPTAIN BOY-ED UNDER HOT FIRE

Trial of Hamberg-American Men Is Begun.

IMPORTANT WITNESS MISSING

Federal Prosecutor, in New York Courtroom, Asserts That German Attache Violated Treaty Rights by Handling Funds for Supplies for the Kaiser's Warships.

New York, Nov. 24.—Captain K. Boy-Ed, German naval attache, was the directing head under whom $750,000 was spent in chartering and supplying neutral steamers with coal and provisions for German men-of-war in the Atlantic and Pacific in August, 1914, the government formally charged—and asserted that it was prepared to prove the charge—in the opening of the trial on charges of conspiracy of Dr. Kary Bueh, managing director of the Hamburg-American line, and three of his subordinates.

Says Boy-Ed Spent $750,000. Roger B. Wood, assistant United States district attorney, in charge of the prosecution, in so declaring, asserted that the entire sum was spent under the personal direction of Captain Boy-Ed and that from $500,000 to $600,000 of the amount was spent in San Francisco in chartering vessels and obtaining supplies for the German warship Leipzig and, perhaps, the Dresden.

Important Witness Gone. At the opening of the court session it became known that an important witness for the government left the jurisdiction of the United States a week ago and is in Bermuda. The name of this witness and what cog he was in the government's machinery in the case were not disclosed. Mr. Wood, however, said that the man knew he would be wanted to testify. No reason for the witness' trip to Bermuda could be learned.

LABOR DELEGATES SCATTER TO HOMES

San Francisco Convention Ends in Hot Wordy Clash.

San Francisco, Nov. 24.—The thousands of delegates who were here attending the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor are scattering to their homes, following the closing of the convention.

The final session of the labor delegates was a stormy one, featured by a bitter verbal contest between President Samuel Gompers and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, arising from a debate over a resolution favored by Fitzpatrick, that the federation go on record as endorsing legislative methods in securing a universal pressure only to obtain shorter hours. The vote was a victory for President Gompers.

MAY BUILD OUR OWN VESSELS

Secretary Daniels Thinks Prices Asked by Builders Are Excessive.

Washington, Nov. 24.—In another effort to beat prices of private contractors for construction of naval vessels, Secretary Daniels announced that he would call for bids from steel makers to supply the navy department with 62,000,000 pounds of plates, shapes, rivets and castings for use by government navy yards in the construction of battleships 43 and 44, the latest additions to the fleet.

Last week the department received bids from private shipbuilders for the construction of the vessels, and regards them as excessive.

Bay City Man Victim of Swindle. Bay City, Mich., Nov. 24.—Phillip Zaas, cattle buyer, reported to the police that he had been swindled out of $1,240 by two men claiming to hail from New York.

Will Clear M. A. C. Campus. East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 24.—All barns and other disfiguring buildings will be removed from the M. A. C. campus, by order of the state board of agriculture.

Dislocates Jaw With Yawn. Caro, Mich., Nov. 24.—Mrs. F. O. Watrous, of Caro, dislocated her jaw while yawning. It required a physician an hour to restore it to normal.

Decapitated in Sugar Factory. Caro, Mich., Nov. 24.—Glenn Blake was decapitated in a local sugar factory when he stepped in the path of a bucket on a beet conveyor.

Clark W. Mills Is Dead. Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 24.—Clark W. Mills, president of the C. W. Mills Paper and Supply company, died after a long illness.

Gift Jury Tampering Hint. Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 24.—An investigation will be made at once by county officials of a charge that one juror who held out for an acquittal of Truxton Talbot, convicted of criminal libel, was influenced by an outsider.

Disappointed Woman Asks Divorce. Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 24.—Mrs. William Drake wanted their thirteen-year-old boy to be a toe dancer. His father wanted him to go to school. As a result the two are the chief actors in a contested divorce case.

Ionla Odd Fellows Celebrate. Ionla, Mich., Nov. 24.—Ionla lodge, I. O. O. F., 175, organized in 1877, celebrated its forty-fourth anniversary here with a gathering of nearly 300 members from Ionla, Saranac, Palu and other nearby towns.

His Fine Contract. Giorgio Polacco's brilliancy as a reveal of music does not extend to the domain of business if one may judge by a story told by Algernon St. John Breunon. Mr. Polacco was approached on one occasion by a Milanese agent offering him an engagement at Lisbon. Mr. Polacco named a certain price as remuneration. The engagement, however, fell through, as Mr. Polacco had to go elsewhere. The next season the same agent asked Mr. Polacco his terms again and for the same city. Mr. Polacco named them. The agent, acting with a certain celerity, asked Mr. Polacco to sign them and there. This was done, and Mr. Polacco took his contract home to his wife. The latter read it. Then she folded it up and looked straight at her husband. "Giorgio," she said, very tranquilly, "you have made a great contract." "Ah," said Mr. Polacco delightedly, "I know I have." "Yes, Giorgio," resumed his wife, "you have asked and accepted less than last year—and also the season is a month longer."

Reminiscence of a Star. My first experience with professionals was at the Empire theater. The dressing rooms there were all on the right side of the stage, with the exception of one in a remote corner, which was given me. I had been told that in a regular company the actors were notified at the half hour, the quarter hour and the overture; but, as it happened, there was no overture on that occasion. I didn't want to go on without being called and seem to be an amateur, and they forgot all about me until I was missing from the scene, and I was sent for in what might be mildly termed a hurry. It was a very hot afternoon in May, and I was sitting "made up" with my hat on and a negligee instead of a dress. Distractedly throwing on a skirt and seizing a feather bon and a jacket I dashed for the stage and entered through the late, much to the amusement of the audience and the consternation of the manager, who told me what he thought of me, and I was ill for a week with mortification and decided to abandon forever a profession fraught with such perils.—Margaret Anglin in American Magazine.

New York's Volunteer Firemen. Before the paid fire department system was installed in New York there were among the volunteers some of the most powerful politicians in the city. Richard Croker belonged to the "big six," of which William M. Tweed was the organizer and boss. Success in fire fighting opened up a career in politics. No body of men had more social affairs than the volunteer firemen. There were parades of fire companies, chowder parties, picnics, annual balls, water throwing contests and at times bitter fights between the rival organizations. So intense was the political feeling at times that it was related that when Chief of Engineers James Gulick was removed from office for political reasons men who received the news when they were fighting a fire quit their work and could only be induced to return when they were deceived into believing that the rumor was false.

The legislature passed the law creating the paid fire department on March 30, 1855.—New York Times.

Our Query and Reply Department

Has any estimate been made as to the probable revenue and expense of operating the Panama canal? If so, what?

A special report on the subject made to President Taft in 1912 estimated the average receipts per annum during 1915 and 1916 at $12,600,000; receipts in 1920, $16,012,500; in 1925, $20,400,000. It has been estimated that the annual expense of maintaining and operating the canal, including the sanitation and government of the canal zone, will amount to $4,000,000. These are merely estimates, but they were made by competent men upon careful consideration. The estimate of expense does not include interest on the cost of the canal, $375,000,000, which at 3 per cent will amount to $11,250,000, nor does it include the payment to Panama of $250,000 annually.

Please inform me through your worthy paper how long England and Japan have been allies?

In January, 1902, the two nations entered into an "entente." This was cemented in September, 1905, by a defensive and offensive alliance.
